📁 EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Director of User Experience at Anthem, Chicago (Remote)

February 2020 — Present

I manage a remote innovation team of user experience designers and researchers. We support five products across three scrum teams. As the director, I have scaled the team from two to ten members, formalized design operations, and implemented a dual-agile methodology. We have designed and shipped digital healthcare products that serve millions of Anthem members.

Owner and Operator at Chicago Solutions Network, Chicago (remote)

October 2017 — Present

I manage product, design and development projects for various independent clients. These projects regularly include two to five direct reports. A core part of my business also includes identifying and vetting qualified full-time employees for corporate clients.

Director of Product and Design at NewFounders, Chicago (remote)

November 2016 — July 2018

I led a six person, cross-functional team of designers, developers, and content creators. By applying design thinking to the American political system, we were able to build digital services aimed at improving voter turnout and community fundraising capabilities.

UI Designer at Wellright, Chicago

March 2016 — February 2017

I led web and mobile product design efforts (including implementing front-end frameworks for our web services). My updates to Wellright's website and mobile applications resulted in over $1M in sales for first time in company history (more than 100% increase YoY).

Product Manager at Foda, Chicago

January 2015 — January 2016

I led product alongside the CTO and was accountable for five products across an eleven person team (including local, remote, and international members). Our overhaul of Foda's web and mobile products coincided with rapid customer growth and revenue surpassing $1M per month.

Co-Founder at Uppd, Chicago

July 2013 — October 2014

Alongside my co-founder, I built a multi-platform, interactive advertising application that leveraged the social graph and incentivized direct product trials. As part of this effort, I led a three person design and development team. We raised $25,000 and qualified as finalists for Chicago TechStars 2014.
